

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. "A true university in these days is a collection of books."

Carlyle.

"If the soul of a library be its librarian, its heart is the catalogue."

Gent. Mag.

"If you are troubled with a pride of accuracy, and would have it completely taken out of you, print a catalogue."

Stevens.

The purpose of the bibliographical notes herein contained, is to make known, so far as the limits of a catalogue will allow, the merits of the several books to which they are attached. Even in small libraries there is great danger that the really valuable books lie unused. Most readers are attracted to books which have been commended by competent authorities, and this principle underlies this catalogue. The Table of Authors has been revised with extreme care, and will, it is hoped, prove a valuable aid in discovering the resources of the general library.

CATALOGUE.

[Books marked with a Star (*) cannot be taken from the Library without the Permission of the Superintendent.]

- 2458 HARE, Augustus William and Julius Charles. Guesses at truth. By two brothers. Portraits and memoir. First and second series. 8vo. London and New York: 1871.
- "Guesses at Truth" display rather acuteness, and suggestiveness, and strength of conviction, than either learning or reflective power."—The Nation.
- 2459-60 JOHNSON, Samuel. *A Dictionary of the English Language. Including a history of the language and an English Grammar. 9th edition. Portrait. 8vo. London: 1806.
- (Contains all the curious definitions, as of Oats, Excise, Pension, Scrub, &c.)
- "It first brought order out of the chaos of the language; and though it has been generally superseded by later compilations, yet the fundamental excellencies of all modern dictionaries of the English language have their elements in that work, and its author must always stand the confessed founder of English lexicography."—Amer. Cyc.
- "It is as a Biographer, that Johnson's name will live as long as literature shall last. And fortunately for posterity, Johnson's own life has been rendered the most amusing piece of biography extant."—Dublin.
- (Johnson's Lives of the Poets, 991; Boswell's Life of Johnson, 205-206.)
- 2461 CAMDEN, William. *Britain, or a Chorographical description of the most flourishing kingdoms, England, Scotland and Ireland, and the Islands adjoining, out of the depth of Antiquitie. Beautified with mappes of the several shires of England. Written first in Latine by William Camden, Clarenceux K. of A. Translated newly into English by Philemon Holland, Doctour in Physick. Engraved title page. Folio. London: 1637.
- "The best edition is that of 1637," folio."—Albione.
- "The common sun whereat our modern writers have all lighted their little torches."—Nicholson.
- 2462-63 SHERMAN, William Tecumseh. Memoirs. By himself. Folded map. 8vo. New York: 1875.
- Contents.—Vol. I. 1846—Feb., 1864. Vol. II. March, 1864—May, 1865.
- "Written with vivacity, and frankly expressing opinions respecting numbers of living personages, these memoirs have given rise to sharp controversies on the other side of the ocean."—Revue des deux Mondes.
- "It is simple, direct, and lucid; no words are wasted and few epithets are used. Its more important statements are amply sustained by official documents."—Brit. Quart. Rev.
- 2464-65 BENTON, Thomas H. Thirty years' view; or, a history of the working of the American government for thirty years, from 1820 to 1850. Portrait. 8vo. New York: 1854.
- "The literary execution of this work, the simplicity of its style, and the unexceptionable taste which tempers all its author's allusions to his contemporaries, have been the subject of universal admiration."—W. C. Bryant.
- 2466-67 HOPE, Thomas. *Costume of the ancients. Three hundred and twenty-one plates. 8vo. London: 1841.
- "The substance of many expensive works."

CATALOGUE.

- 2468 COOPER, James Fenimore. Sea Tales:—The Pilot; The Red Rover; The Water Witch; Wing-And-Wing; The two Admirals. Engravings. 8vo. New York: 1874.
 "The productions of his genius will go down to posterity among the noblest efforts of the age."—Lewis Cass.
 "The empire of the sea has been conceded to him by acclamation."—Edinb. Rev.
- 2469 JOHNSTON, Joseph Eccleston. Narrative of military operations, directed (by him) during the late war between the States. 8vo. New York: 1874.
 "General Johnston * * has not written a historic memoir to satisfy the world for information. * * * He has simply written an earnest, almost passionate defense of himself before the Southern people from the charges of having caused or contributed to their defeat."—The Nation.
- 2470 SCHUCKERS, J. W. The life and public services of Salmon Portland Chase. Added the eulogy delivered by William M. Evarts, at Dartmouth College, June 24, 1874. Portrait. Illustrations. Fac-similes. 8vo. New York: 1874.
 "He writes with simplicity of expression, with unostentation, without partiality, save that of a pure, warm, and sincere friendship for his chief, and with a just and honorable, but not extravagant or sentimental, appreciation of that inherent dignity and nobility of character to which Mr. Chase's honorable position neither did nor could add any thing, and from which the criticisms of political foes neither did nor could detract."—Harper's Mag.
- 2471 CATALOGUES. 1. Chemical, pharmaceutical, and physical apparatus. Rohrbeck and Goebeler. New York.
 2. Chemical preparations, pure re-agents, minerals, &c. Rohrbeck and Goebeler. New York.
 3. Philosophical apparatus and school furniture. Am. School Apparatus Co., New York.
 4. Haxtum Steam Heater Co., Kewanee, Ill.
 5. Chemical apparatus. H. B. and W. O. Chamberlain, Boston.
- 2472-73 ORRERY, Earl of. (John Boyle.) The letters of Pliny the Younger, with observations on each letter, and an essay on Pliny's life. Illustrated. 8vo. London: 1753.
 "In this translation his lordship is allowed to have given a very just representation of the character of Pliny and of the merit of his letters."—Park.
 (For Pliny's account of the destruction of Herculaneum, see vol. ii., p. 36; and for one of the first references to the early Christians, see vol. ii., p. 426.)
- 2474-94 ENCYCLOPÆDIA Britannica, a dictionary of arts, sciences, and general literature. 9th edition. Engravings and Maps. 4to. Boston (Edinburgh): 1875.
 (Edited by Thomas Spencer Baynes.)
Contents.—Vol. I. A—A N T; Vol. II. A N T—A T H; Vol. III. A T H—B O I; Vol. IV. B O I—C A N; Vol. V. C A N—C L E.
 "An acquisition in public libraries to literary and scientific thinkers of all classes."—Westminster Rev.
- 2495 MEACHAM, Hon. A. B. Wigwam and war-path; or, the royal chief in chains. Portraits. 8vo. Boston: 1875.
 (Contains strictures on President Grant's Indian policy, and an account of Captain Jack and the Modoc war.)
 "I commend this book to the public."—Wendell Phillips.
 "The book has no peer in its peculiar line of literature. Here is one of the most realistic pictures of the actual American Indian, as he now presents himself, in his 'reserves' and in his wildest state, that has ever been given,—not the Indian of the novel, or of highwrought descriptions, but the actual, copper-colored, blanket-covered wanderer of the wilds."—Zion's Herald.
- 2496-97 CAYLEY, Arthur. Memoirs of Sir Thomas More, with a new translation of his Utopia, his history of King Richard III., and his Latin Poems. Portraits. 4to. London: 1808.
 (More borrowed the idea of his "Utopia" from Plato's "Republic." The "Republic" (819, 1500), Bacon's "New Atlantis" (1592), Hobbes' "Leviathan," Harrington's "Oceana," and More's "Utopia" are attempts at an ideal reconstruction of society, and, Hobbes excepted, are among the remote ancestors of Saint Simonism, Fourierism, Chartism, Socialism, and Communism.)
 "Sir Thomas More's character, both in public and private, comes as near to perfection as our nature will permit."—Lord Campbell.
 "He had thought as little about fame as Shakspeare, yet in the next generation it was an honor to an Englishman throughout Enrope to be the countryman of More."—Edinb. Rev.

- 2498 BRACE, Charles L. The races of the old world: A manual of ethnology. 12mo. New York: 1864.
(For other works on Ethnology see Nos. 1653 (Sec. 4), 1430.)
- 2499 ROBERTSON, James Craigie. Becket, archbishop of Canterbury. A biography. Engravings. 8vo. London: 1859.
"A fresh and masterly work."—Lon. Gent. Mag.
- 2500-1 WOOD, Edward J. The wedding day in all ages and countries. 8vo. London: 1869.
"Amusing and suggestive volumes."—Lon. Exam.
"Some very curious illustrations of the 'subjection of women' as it has existed in time past."—Harper's Mag.
- 2502 BOSTON Journal of Chemistry. Vols. VIII., IX., X. (July, 1873—July, 1876.) 8vo. Boston.
- 2503 MILLARD, Alfred L. Early history of Lenawee county and the city of Adrian, from the first settlement of the county. Historical Oration delivered at Adrian, July 4, 1876. Folio. Adrian: 1876.
- 2504 DRAKE, Joseph Rodman. The Culpit Fay. 12mo. New York: 1859.
"The 'Culpit Fay' is a story of exquisite fancy, filled with a vast assemblage of vitalized images of earth, air, and water."—Cyc. of Am. Lit.
- 2505 SABIN, Joseph. (Joint editor.) The American Biblioplist. A literary register and repository of notes and queries, Shakesperiana, &c. Vols. VI., VII. 8vo. New York: 1874-75. (Vols. II.-IV., Nos. 1997-2000.)
(An invaluable source of bibliographical knowledge.)
- 2506 WILL, Heinrich. *Tables for qualitative chemical analysis, with an introductory chapter on the course of analysis. Edited by Charles F. Himes. 12mo. Philadelphia: 1874.
- 2507 YOUNG, Edward L. *Chemical Atlas; or, chemistry of familiar objects: exhibiting the general principles of the science in a series of beautifully colored diagrams, and accompanied by explanatory essays. 4to. New York: 1855.
"He (the Emperor of Brazil) was particularly pleased with Young's Atlas of Chemistry."—Rev. J. C. Fletcher.
- 2508 GOSSE, Philip Henry. Evenings at the microscope; or, researches among the minuter organs and forms of animal life. Illustrated. 12 mo. New York: 1860.
(For other works on microscopy, see Nos. 1387, 1390, 1469.)
- 2509 LORRAIN, Paul. (1) Rites of funeral, ancient and modern, in use through the known world. Written originally in French by the ingenious Monsieur (N.) Muret. Dedicated to Samuel Pepys, Esq.
"Ces deux petits traites sont assez recherches."—Brunet.
(2) Marcus Minutius Felix his Octavius; or, a vindication of Christianity against Paganism. Translated by P. Lorrain, Gent. (Dedicated to John Tillotson, D. D.) 8vo. London: 1683.
(On the subject of the cremation of the dead, see numbers 2355 and 485 [pp. 275-352]).
- 2510 BARNARD, Henry. Life, educational principles and methods of John Henry Pestalozzi. Portrait. 8vo. New York: 1859.
(Contains copious extracts from Pestalozzi's works. For a shorter account, see Nos. 2085, 2750, 2761.)
- 2511 LOCKE, John. An essay concerning human understanding. Portrait. Notes. 8vo. London: 1823.
"The work that has eclipsed every other, and given to such inquiries whatever popularity they ever possessed."—Hallam.
"The most elegant of prose writers."—W. S. Landon.
- 2512 HAZLITT, William. Table Talk: essays on men and manners. 8vo. London: 1871.
"He possessed, in a very eminent degree, what we are inclined to believe the most important requisite for true criticism—a great natural relish for all the phases of intellectual life and action."—H. T. Tuckerman.
"He introduces us almost corporally into the divine presence of the Great of old time—enables us to hear the living oracles of wisdom drop from their lips—and makes us partakers, not only of those joys which they diffused, but of those which they felt in the inmost recesses of their souls. He draws aside the veil of time with a hand tremulous with mingled delight and reverence; and descants with kindling enthusiasm on all the delicacies of that picture of genius which he discloses."—Edinb. Rev.

- 2513 HAZLITT, William. Lectures on the literature of the age of Elizabeth, and characters of Shakespeare's plays. 8vo. London: 1870.
- 2514 — Sketches and essays; and Winterslow. (Essays written there.) 8vo. London: 1872.
- 2515 — Lectures on the English poets and the English comic writers. 8vo. London: 1870.
- 2516 — The plain speaker; opinions on books, men, and things. 8vo. London: 1870.
- 2517 WARTON, Thomas, B. D. The history of English poetry from the eleventh to the seventeenth century. A full reprint—text and notes—of edition, London, 1778-1781. 8vo. London.
- “Ouvrage estimé.”—Brunet.
- “An immense treasury of materials.”—William Godwin.
- “He loved poetry dearly, and he wrote its history well; that book being a mine.”—Prof. Wilson.
- 2518-19 BOUTERWEK, Frederick. History of Spanish and Portuguese literature. Translated from the original German by Thomasina Ross. 8vo. London: 1823.
- “Une des meilleures parties du grand ouvrage de Bouterwek.”—Brunet.
- (For fuller information on Spanish literature, see Nos. 1958-1960.)
- 2520 STAUNTON, Howard. The great schools of England: An account of the foundation, endowments, and discipline of the chief seminaries of learning in England; including Eaton, Winchester, Westminster, St. Paul's, Charter House, Merchant Taylor's, Harrow, Rugby, Shrewsbury, &c., &c. Twenty illustrations. 8vo. London: 1865.
- “A work of great value; commended by Lon. Athen., Lon. Reader, Lon. Review, &c.”—Allibone.
- 2521 MASSINGER, Phillip. Plays. With notes, critical and explanatory, by William Gifford. Portrait. 8vo. New York: 1857.
- “Massinger as a tragic writer appears to me second only to Shakespeare; in the higher comedy I can hardly think him inferior to Jonson.”—Hallam.
- 2522 PHELPS, William F. The teacher's hand-book for the institute and the school-room. 12mo. New York: 1875.
- 2523 MACBETH, John Walker Vilant. The might and mirth of literature. A treatise on figurative language. 8vo. New York: 1875.
- “From the days of Quintillian down we are unable to recall any one who has devoted an entire work to the discussion of figure, and scarce one who has subjected it to a searching scientific analysis. This constitutes the value of Professor Macbeth's work.”—Harper's Mag.
- 2524 VIOLETTE-LE-DUC, Eugène Emmanuel. Annals of a fortress. Translated by B. Bucknell. Illustrated. 8vo. London: 1875.
- “M. Vollet-le-Duc is not only a great architect and antiquarian of exact and profound acquirements, he is a poet, steeped in fancy and imagination.”
- “The present work is very artistically conceived, and is full of scientific and popular interest.”—Brit. Quart. Rev.
- 2525 VERNE, Jules. In search of the castaways. A romantic adventure of the loss of Captain Grant of the brig Britannia. Illustrated. 8vo. Philadelphia: 1874.
- “Surely, never were sober good sense, encyclopedic science, and exciting romance so blended for the wonder and instruction of young folks and the absorption of their gravest elders.”—Brit. Quart. Rev.
- 2526 — The fur country; or, seventy degrees north latitude. Translated from the French by N. D'Anvers. Illustrated. 8vo. Boston: 1874.
- “The peculiar form of scientific nonsense that M. Verne has put together may be left for the discovery of his readers; he certainly has written an amusing book.”—The Nation.
- (See Nos. 2227-29.)
- 2527 ANDERSON, Rasmus B. Norse mythology; or, the religion of our forefathers, containing all the myths of the Eddas, systematized and interpreted. With an introduction, vocabulary, and index. Illustrated. 8vo. Chicago: 1875.
- (Numbers 1724, 2182, 2349, and 2420 will give a great amount of information on Scandinavian history.)
- “Prof. Anderson gives us an admirably methodical and lucid account of Norse ideas as embodied in the elder and younger Edda, * * * and there is perhaps no other book at hand to which we would as soon refer the general reader desirous of learning something about the mythology of our forefathers.”—The Nation.

- 2528 ROE, Rev. Edward Payson. From jest to earnest. 12mo. New York: 1875.
 "His latest and best story. * * * It is intensely religious; unlike most religious stories, it is not didactic."—Harper's Mag.
- 2529 SOUTHWORTH, Alvan J. Four thousand miles of African travel. A personal journal of a journey up the Nile and through Soudan, to the confines of central Africa, embracing a discussion of the sources of the Nile and an examination of the slave trade. Maps and illustrations. 8vo. New York: 1875.
- 2530 TAINÉ, Hippolite (Adolphe). The ideal in art. Translated by J. Durand. 12mo. New York: 1874.
 "M. Taine studies its (Italy's) art from its history; * * and we think he has by far the clearer idea of the time, its people, and its work."—Atlantic.
- 2531 — Notes on England. Translated, with an introductory chapter, by W. E. Rae. Portrait of the author. 8vo. New York: 1874.
 "One feels at moments as if, before this writer, there had been no critics, no travelers, observers, or aesthetic inquisitors."—Nation.
- 2532 WARNER, Charles Dudley. My summer in a garden. 12mo. Boston: 1875.
 "Mr. Warner finds tongues in trees, and sermons in stones, and good wholesome teaching everywhere; and his book is just such an out-of-the-way intermingling of quiet humor and strange conceit as Charles Lamb might have perpetrated."—Notes and Queries (Lon.)
- 2533 — Saunterings. 8vo. Boston: 1873.
 "It is not only thoroughly entertaining, but exceedingly instructive. It is written, too, with that natural wit which does not consist in exaggeration or falsehood."—N. Y. Evening Post.
- 2534 HILL, Rosamond and Florence. What we saw in Australia. Illustrated. 8vo. London: 1875.
- 2535 INGELow, Jean. Mopsa the fairy. Illustrated. Sm. 8vo. Boston: 1871.
- 2536 — Fated to be free. A novel. 8vo. Boston: 1875.
 "The book is in a true sense a religious novel, but its religion is one less of sentiment or strong feeling than of every-day practical working duty."—Harper's Mag.
- 2537 — Stories told to a child. First series. Illustrated. 12mo. Boston: 1874.
- 2538 — Stories told to a child. Second series. Sixteen illustrations. Sm. 8vo. Boston: 1872.
- 2539 CRAIK, Georgiana M. Miss Moore. A book for girls. Illustrated. 16mo. New York: 1874.
- 2540 — The cousin from India. A book for girls. Illustrated. 16mo. New York: 1874.
- 2541 TROWBRIDGE, J. T. Fast friends. Illustrated. 12mo. Boston: 1875.
- 2542 HALE, Edward E. Christmas eve and Christmas day. Ten Christmas stories. Illustrated by F. O. C. Darley. Sm. 8vo. Boston: 1873.
- 2543 FARQUHARSON, Martha. (Finley, Martha.) Allan's fault. Illustrated. Sm. 8vo. Philadelphia.
- 2544 — The Shannons; or, from darkness to light. Illustrated. Sm. 8vo. Philadelphia.
- 2545 — The peddler of La Grave. Illustrated. Sm. 12mo. Philadelphia.
- 2546 CARROLL, Lewis. (Dodgson, Charles Lutwidge.) Through the looking-glass, and what Alice found there. Fifty illustrations by John Tenniel. Sm. 8vo. New York and London: 1872.
- 2547 — Alice's adventures in wonderland. Forty-two illustrations by John Tenniel. Sm. 8vo. Boston: 1874.
- 2548 STEPHENS, C. A. Fox hunting, as recorded by Raed. Illustrated. Sm. 8vo. Boston: 1873.
- 2549 — Camping out, as recorded by "Kit." Illustrated. Sm. 8vo. Boston.
 "If 'Camping Out' is not in the main a true story, it is exceedingly well invented."—The Nation.
- 2550 — Left on Labrador; or, the cruise of the schooner-yacht Curlew. As recorded by "Wash." Illustrated. Sm. 8vo. Boston.
- 2551 — Off the Geysers; or, the young yachters in Iceland. As recorded by "Wade." Illustrated. Sm. 8vo. Boston: 1875.
- 2552 HOLLAND, J. G. (Timothy Titcomb.) Sevenoaks; a story of to-day. Illustrated. 12mo. New York: 1875.

- 2552 HOLLAND, J. G., continued.
 "It is certainly far from lavish praise of Dr. Holland's 'Sevenoaks' to say that it is an improvement on his preceding novel, 'Arthur Bonnicastle.'" — The Nation.
- 2553 ALGER, William Rounsville. The friendship of women. A gentle business, and becoming the action of good women.— Shakespeare. Sm. 8vo. Boston: 1875.
- 2554 SUE, Marie Joseph (called Eugène). The wandering Jew. 16mo. London.
 "A merciless attack upon the Jesuits." — Am. Cyc.
- 2555 RUFFINI, Signor G. Doctor Antonio; a tale of Italy. 12mo. New York: 1874.
- 2556 — Lavinia. A novel. 12mo. New York: 1861.
- 2557 AUERBACH, Berthold. On the heights. Translated by Simon Adler Stern. 12mo. New York: 1875.
- 2558-59 RICHTER, Jean Paul Friederich. Titan: a romance. Translated by Charles T. Brooks. 12mo. Boston: 1875.
 "Richter has been called an intellectual Colossus; and in truth it is still somewhat in this light that we view him. * * * In the moral desert of vulgar literature, with its sandy wastes, and parched, bitter, and too often poisonous shrubs, the writings of this man will rise in their irregular luxuriance, like a cluster of date-trees, with its greensward and well of water, to refresh the pilgrim, in the sultry solitude, with nourishment and shade." — Edinb. Rev.
- 2560 STOWE, Harriet (Elizabeth) Beecher. My wife and I; or, Mary Henderson's history. Illustrated. 12mo. New York.
- 2561 — Agnes of Sorrento. 12mo. Boston: 1869.
- 2562 TROLLOPE, Anthony. The way we live now. A novel. Illustrated. 8vo. New York: 1875.
 "Mr. Anthony Trollope's novels are not only 'among the enjoyments of life,' they are also among its instructors." — Harper's Mag.
- 2563 HUGO, Victor. Les Misérables. Translated by Charles E. Wilbur. 8vo. New York: 1875.
- 2564 — The toilers of the sea. A novel. With two engravings from original pictures by Gustave Doré. 8vo. New York: 1875.
- 2565 MULOCK, Dina Maria (Mrs. Craik). Sermons out of church. 12mo. New York: 1875.
 "It is no new thing for the author of John Halifax to preach. All her stories are parables." — Harper's Mag.
- 2566 — Agatha's Husband. A novel. Illustrated. 12mo. New York: 1875.
- 2567 — Fair France. Impressions of a traveler. 12mo. New York: 1871.
- 2568 — The adventures of a brownie, as told to my child. Illustrated. 16mo. New York: 1875.
- 2569 — The little lame prince. Illustrated. 16mo. New York: 1875.
 "Her 'Little Lame Prince' is simply delightful." — Westminster Rev.
- 2570 — Little sunshine's holiday. A picture from life. Illustrated. 16mo. New York: 1874.
- 2571 — Is it true? Tales curious and wonderful. Illustrated. 16mo. New York: 1875.
- 2572 — (Editor.) Twenty years ago. From the journal of a girl in her teens. Illustrated. 16mo. New York.
- 2573 — One year. A child's book in prose and verse. Illustrated by Clarence Dobell. 16mo. New York: 1860.
 "There are few writers who have exhibited a more marked progress, whether in freedom of touch or in depth of purpose, than the authoress of 'The Ogilvies' and 'John Halifax.'" — North Brit. Rev.
 "We know of no modern novel writer, and scarce of any writer of fiction of the past, whose works may be so safely commended as hers." — Ill. Christian Weekly.

Johnstoun Scotobrit. dedicated to K. James, and now annexed to this work for the readers benefit. Whereunto is also added a sixth Booke. By R. B. of Lincolnes Inne, Esq. (Richard Beling.) London. Printed for J. Waterson and R. Young, 1638. Calf, folio.
"Live ever, sweete, sweete booke."
—Gabriel Harvey.
"The first good prose writer, in any positive sense of the term, is Sir Philip Sidney."—Hallam.
The man that looks, sweet Sidney, in thy face,
Beholding there love's truest majesty,
And the soft image of departed grace,
Shall fill his mind with magnanimity."—Lord Thurlow.
"The 'Faery Queene' of Spenser and the 'Princess' of Mr. Tennyson are appropriate literary parallels. Though not boasting a definite moral purpose, the 'Arcadia' is not less refined in tone than the former of these fictions."—Edinb. Rev.

Works on Bibliography.

The works of first importance to those who wish to make a critical selection of books, are those which are included under the term Bibliography. What are the best books on given topics? What are the relative merits of different editions of the same work? What works has a certain author given to the world? These and other queries of vital importance to the librarian, can be answered only by referring to standard treatises on Bibliography.

Though the number of works of this description in our library is small, the selection thus far made embraces those which are of the greatest practical utility.

ALLIBONE'S DICTIONARY OF ENGLISH LITERATURE AND OF BRITISH AND AMERICAN AUTHORS, (869-871), is replete with trustworthy information.

LOUNDE'S BIBLIOGRAPHER'S MANUAL, (1970-1980), "should," in the judgment of Allibone, "be in every library of any pretensions." It is particularly valuable on topics connected with British literature.

BRUNET'S MANUEL DU LIBRAIRE, (2060-2064), covers the whole field of ancient and modern literature, and is an almost inexhaustible source of curious and valuable knowledge.

GUILD'S LIBRARIAN'S MANUAL, (2763), contains a critical list of the most valuable works in all departments of Bibliography.

EDWARD'S FREE TOWN LIBRARIES, (2762), is an exhaustive treatise on the foundation and management of popular libraries.

PUBLIC LIBRARIES IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, (2764), exhibits the history, condition and management of libraries in this country.

LES BIBLIOTHEQUES ANCIENNES ET MODERNES DE LYON, shows how libraries are supported and managed in an important continental city.

COLLIER'S BIBLIOGRAPHICAL AND CRITICAL ACCOUNT OF THE RAREST BOOKS IN THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE, (791-794), is alone in its particular field, and is full of curious information not otherwise accessible to the general reader.

SABIN'S BIBLIOPOLIST, (1997-2000, 2505), is devoted to Notes and Queries, Shakespeareana, Bibliography, etc.

MOORE'S WHAT TO READ AND HOW TO READ, (1453); POTTER'S HAND BOOK FOR READERS AND STUDENTS, (562); PORTER'S BOOKS AND READING, (1575), are works designed for popular use, and are worthy of careful study.

Rules for Using Books.

(Nicholson.)

1. Never fold down corners, or turn over the leaves of a book with wet fingers.
2. Turn over the leaves by applying the middle finger to the top of each.
3. Never leave a book open, face downward.
4. Never pull books from the shelves by the head-bands, or suffer them to stand upon the fore-edge.
5. Never make a pen or pencil mark on any part of a borrowed book.
6. Never open a book so far as to injure the binding.
7. Never touch a book with soiled hands.
8. Do not read a book at table. Crumbs are apt to penetrate into the back-fold of the leaves.
9. Books are not intended for card-racks, or for receptacles of botanical specimens.
10. Treat books gently; "for books are kind friends. We benefit by their advice, and they exact no confessions."

WHEN a Library has reached any considerable size, its usefulness depends very largely on a catalogue of its contents. It is essential for those who superintend the purchase of books to know what subjects of knowledge are represented in the Library and in what departments deficiencies exist, in order that the collection may be symmetrical and generally useful; while it is important that those who use a Library should be able to select without trouble the works which bear on any specified subject. These two purposes are best subserved by a Classification by Subjects and an Alphabetical List of Authors.

The Classification given in this catalogue is based on that of Brunet in his Manuel du Libraire. While the classification is not exhaustive, it is, to some extent, prospective; while it exhibits the present resources of the Library, it makes provision for its gradual enlargement.

In the High School, the study of English Literature has been considerably extended; and one object kept in view in the arrangement of this catalogue has been to furnish facilities for the acquirement of bibliographical knowledge.

The rules for using books are published especially for the benefit of younger readers like those in our schools; yet they may be of use to all lovers of books, and to all who would make a wise use of their time.

Rules of the Library.

1. The Library shall be open Tuesdays and Fridays, from 3½ to 4½ P. M. [Vacations excepted].
2. Teachers, and all pupils of Grammar and High Schools, may draw books without special permit.
3. Residents of the District, above the age of 21 years, who obtain a permit signed by any Trustee, may draw books. [Such permit is not transferable].
4. No person shall draw or have out more than one book at a time.
5. Books of reference shall not be taken from the Library, but may be consulted during school hours, on application to the Superintendent or Librarian.
6. No book shall be kept longer than 14 days, but after remaining in the Library until the next drawing day, it may be re-drawn.
7. Whoever keeps a book longer than 14 days shall pay a fine of 10 cents for each week or fraction of a week the book is so kept.
8. If any book be kept longer than four weeks, the Librarian shall send for it, in which case the drawer shall pay 10 cents, in addition to fine under rule 7.
9. No one shall lend a book drawn from the Library, under penalty of 25 cents.
10. Any person who loses, destroys, or fails for eight weeks to return any book, shall pay its price, to be fixed by the Superintendent; and if any such book be one of a set or series, he shall pay the price of the set, or replace the book, at the option of the Board.
11. Any person failing to comply with the foregoing rules, shall have his permit revoked, and shall not be allowed the privileges of the Library until he has complied therewith.

Rules for the Librarian.

1. The Librarian shall have immediate charge of the Library, and shall allow no books to be taken from the shelves except by himself or assistants.
2. He shall keep all books covered with Manilla paper.
3. He shall keep an account of all books drawn, as well as all penalties assessed or collected for violation of rules.
4. He shall, at the end of each term, render to the Board an itemized account of all fines collected, and pay the same to the Secretary.
5. At the close of the summer term, he shall make out and submit to the Board a report, embracing a statement of
The number of volumes in the Library at the close of the last school year ;
The number of volumes added during the year by purchase or donation ;
The whole number of volumes then in the Library ;
Number of volumes lost or destroyed during the year ;
Number of persons drawing books with permit and without permit.
Whole number of books drawn ;
Such other items or suggestions as he shall deem necessary or of interest.

3. Never leave a book open, face downward.
4. Never pull books from the shelves by the head-bands, or suffer them to stand upon the fore-edge.
5. Never make a pen or pencil mark on any part of a borrowed book.
6. Never open a book so far as to injure the binding.
7. Never touch a book with soiled hands.
8. Do not read a book at table. Crumbs are apt to penetrate into the back-fold of the leaves.
9. Books are not intended for card-racks, or for receptacles of botanical specimens.
10. Treat books gently ; "for books are kind friends. We benefit by their advice, and they exact no confessions."

Rules for Reading.

---

(Sir William Hamilton.)

1. Read much, but not many works.
2. Select the works of principal importance, estimated by relation to the several sciences themselves, or to your individual disposition and wants.
3. Read not the more detailed works upon a science, until you have obtained a rudimentary knowledge of it in general.
4. Make yourselves acquainted with a science in its actual or present state, before you proceed to study it in its chronological development.
5. To avoid erroneous and exclusive views, read and compare together the more important works of every sect and party.
6. To avoid a one-sided development of mind, combine with the study of works which cultivate the understanding, the study of works which cultivate the taste.
7. Read that you may accurately remember, but still more, that you may fully understand.
8. Strive to compass the general tenor of a work before you attempt to judge of it in detail.
8. Accommodate the intensity of the reading to the importance of the work. Some books are, therefore, to be only dipped into ; others are to be run over rapidly ; and others to be studied long and sedulously.
10. Regulate on the same principle the extracts which you make from the works you read.
